af Rasmus Holst Nielsen, stud.mag. i klassisk arkæologi, næstformand i HUMrådet på Københavns Universitet

Arkæologer på barrikaden for overlevelse som fag

The blockade and occupation of the management-department of the Faculty of Humanities at Copenhagen University started because neither the employees nor the student had been involved in the compilation of a new plan for the faculty for the period 2020-2023, and that the plan, as presented by the dean, was unacceptable. The occupation lasted from the 28th of October until the 5th of December, at which point the dean finally surrendered and signed a new revised plan and process, made in collaboration between the student and the employees. The writing group for this new plan continues to work and revise the plan, and it is to be sent to the rector of KU at the 8th of June.