

I fortidens fodspor

– erfaringer fra et formidlingsprojekt i landskabet

Abstract

In the footsteps of the past – lessons from a public outreach project in the outdoors

In recent years Museum Silkeborg, the Danish Nature Agency, and Silkeborg Kommune have worked on the project: In the Footsteps of the Past, supported by the Nordea-fonden. The aim of the project is to get more people outdoors through use of the interesting stories from the past hidden in the landscape, i.e. telling the stories at the places they actually happened.

This article presents the different types of installations (audio units, interactive stations, corten steel figures, etc.) we have developed and what we learned along the way. User surveys have shown a high level of satisfaction and demonstrated great potential for such public outreach in the landscape.

Peer reviewed

Nina Helt Nielsen
& Karen Rysgaard

